

Whose Side Is God On?

In the American Civil War – both sides prayed to the same God...

We have all witnessed it. Someone “feels led” to change churches. It’s strange that the pastor was left completely out of the loop. So off they go (“off” somehow seems fitting).

When their raven feet find a new resting place, their previous lackluster spirituality suddenly blooms with new vigor and vitality! Feeling God and knowing His will is at a high-water mark now. Their worship and praise hits new levels of spontaneity.

They now bask in their newfound place that is “so filled with love” like a hog rolling in knee-deep mire. Their new pastor is nothing short of a Biblical prophet and a Good Humor ice cream truck driver all rolled into one!

Their newly adopted brothers and sisters are all Spirit-filled Florence Nightingales who are there with band-aids and gauze to help bind up their old wounds. They are now “recharged,” and like that floppy-eared bunny, they just keep going and going! And they “know” that, for them, it is all the “will of God.”

You see, both sides prayed to the same God... however, only one side won.
