Philip and the Ethiopian are a fine example of one winning one to Christ, and securing obedience to him in the things which he has commanded. It was a signal victory for the cross and the risen Christ; a striking illustration, too, of the commission in individual effort.

Great principals are here at work, yielding rich returns with one meeting one, no less than with the thousands at Jerusalem on the day of Pentecost. And it came through processes, seemingly commonplace, but really signal and extraordinary.

A great work had just been wrought in the city of Samaria, where the people believed Philip preaching the things concerning the Kingdom of God, and in the name of Jesus Christ, and “were baptized both men and women.”
